

Mongolia: the Circle in the Clouds

Nancy Hopkins had always been told by her mother that if she misbehaved she would be sent to Outer Mongolia. Imagine her surprise when, upon receiving their mission assignment for The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, she and her husband John were informed they would be sent to Mongolia! They quickly learned that being sent to Mongolia was no longer a punishment, but a wonderful blessing. This book follows the Hopkinses through their humanitarian service mission to Mongolia. Follow the Hopkinses as they explore the ever-changing world of Mongolia. You can feel the tension as they experience the danger of the black market. You will laugh at their escapades as they travel to the far ends of the earth and try to find their way back. Your soul will ache with compassion as you experience the hardships of Mongolia: the cold, the droughts, the poverty, the young children living underground in the sewers of the cities. You will be inspired as you witness the profound impact of the humanitarian service of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints on those in desperate need.
